

The LCD display (or here its connector) serves for future enhancements or helps to make debugging easier in case some problems occur. The entire microcontroller application is designed to work with a wireless transmitter and does not require an LCD on the transmitting part of the application.

Title

Dot Matrix LCD Display

Written by

Peter Luethi
Dietikon, Switzerland

Date

23-Apr-2001

Revision

1.03

Page

6 of 8